

Editorial Comment

IHRJ EDITORIAL BOARD

Dear Esteemed Authors and Readers

Greetings!!

It has been a long time since we last communicated through this column. The entire IHRJ editorial team wishes you health and prosperity all year round. We would also like to inform you that team IHRJ has the same dedication it had since its inception. We have been working round the clock to provide our readers with a global platform for all our authors and readers as well as have applied for indexing in various other platforms. In the month of April 2023, we would release our seventh volume and it shall be a witness to our never ending dedication towards our readers and authors.

Our backend team is still providing round the clock assistance to authors regarding their publications and have been publishing our issues on time, as always.

We look forward to your continued association. Together, we shall scale new heights by publishing quality research in IHRJ...

Warm Regards,
IHRJ Editorial Team.